Global Virtual Internship Course (TAB-200T)

The internship is designed to give you international work experience by developing global professional competencies, building an international network, and enhancing your resume. You will be able to work with organizations in Argentina, Australia, Brazil, China, England, Ireland, Italy, Spain, and Taiwan to support various projects in the fields of arts, political engagement, education, business/finance, women's economic empowerment, and STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math, including Computer Science).

No matter “where in the world” you intern, you will take an associated internship class to help you engage academically, professionally and experientially with your organization. Students will earn one academic course credit, which will carry LCC credit. Knowledge of the host country language is not required, with the exception of Italy, where there may be placements that have a language requirement. Depending on the placement, there is a process to petition for major and minor course credit, as appropriate. To learn more about the internships, view this webinar.

Students who are studying remotely and who complete an Experiential Education course will receive a Robert J. Moser ’99 Experiential Learning Award ($2,000). Students who have opted to return to campus are not eligible for this award.

Sophomores, juniors and seniors can take advantage of registering for the Global Virtual Internship for the upcoming terms. You can register for this Experiential Education opportunity via WebAdvising during of the add-drop period of winter and spring terms. Learn more about the global opportunities from our partners, campus b, CAPA and CET by viewing a recording of the webinar.
